Vitamin C Liposomal

Vitamin C fuels the body's mechanisms that produce collagen, fight infection, and handle physical and mental stress. Vitamin C Liposomal is a single supplement that effectively improves your skin and benefits family health.

Effective delivery of Vitamin C in liposomes

Syringe for easy dosing and giving to children

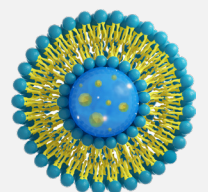

Premium elderberry taste

Value for money; 50 doses of 1000 mg liposomal Vitamin C

We encapsulate vitamin C in spherical liposome shells for three reasons. First, liposomes are effective vehicles for delivering vitamin C to cells. Second, vitamin C in liposomes is absorbed by the body through the lymphatic system rather than the intestines and can thus be absorbed and used in far greater doses than regular vitamin C. Third, by first traveling first through the lymphatic system, the vitamin C in liposomes goes straight to where it is needed to fight infection before being used elsewhere in the body.

Vitamin D3 + K2 Liposomal

We are supposed to live in the sun. Yet we are told to avoid the sun with no regard to how we suffer from reduced vitamin D levels.

Vitamin D is the nutrient most important to human health. It is required for thousands of genes and many physiological functions of the body to work properly.

Vitamin D3 + K2 Liposomal is a formulation strong enough to raise the whole family's vitamin D levels to what they are supposed to be.

Effective delivery of Vitamin D3 in liposomes

Syringe for easy dosing and giving to children

200,000 IU of Vitamin D per bottle, enough for the whole family

Vitamin K2 ensures that Vitamin D3 is used optimally

40-day course

Treatment 10 Liposomal

Treatment 10 is a 10-day treatment supplying the body with quercetin, vitamins A, C & D, zinc and selenium to fight viruses.

We encapsulate the active agents of Treatment 10 in spherical liposomes as liposomes are effective vehicles for delivering vitamins and minerals to cells. Such delivery is especially important for quercetin to be bioavailable. Additionally, the active agents encapsulated in liposomes are absorbed through the lymphatic system, which is where they are needed to fight infection most, rather than being absorbed through the intestines.

Caspar's Choice Omega 3 for kids

The body uses omega 3 for brain development. Specifically, omega 3 maintains the fluidity of the brain as the brain makes new connections in learning, acquiring skills and forming memories. Furthermore, omega 3 is important in controlling mood, sleep and concentration.

Omega 3 is therefore one of the most important nutrients for children. However, children hate the taste of cod-liver oil (the classically taken form of omega 3) and cannot swallow soft gels (the form in which adults take their omega 3). Meanwhile, a child's omega-3 gummy typically contains only 25 to 40 mg of omega 3.

Under the guidance of the taste buds of 8-year-old Caspar, we developed an elderberry and blackcurrant omega-3 supplement that tastes phenomenal yet contains no sugar and delivers 40 doses of 460 mg omega 3 (including 350 mg DHA and 70 mg EPA).

Contains DHA and EPA, which are the most usable forms of omega 3

Excellent taste of elderberry and blackcurrant designed for kids

Each dose is 460 mg of omega 3 (versus 40 mg for a typical gummy)

Syringe for easy dosing and giving to children

More economical than getting omega 3 from fish at the supermarket

Strength Reloaded

Being strong requires your muscles to perform and recover optimally. Strength Reloaded includes sodium and potassium as main electrolytes for muscle function and magnesium for muscle relaxation and flexibility. Thiamin is included to raise cellular energy levels. Furthermore, being powerful requires your tendons and ligaments to be strong and elastic.

Strength Reloaded includes the sulphur, vitamin C, copper and zinc required to make tightly binding collagen, elastin and keratin connective tissues that resist tearing apart. Finally, sulphur reduces long-term joint inflammation, enabling you to run, swim and lift weights daily.

Methylsulfonylmethane (MSM)

MSM is humanity's most versatile medicine. We provide several highly concentrated formulations of MSM for skin elasticity, joint flexibility, respiratory health and detoxification.

First, methylsulfonylmethane is known as nature's beauty mineral because it increases the elasticity of skin, produces a more even skin tone, and strengthens and accelerates the growth of hair and nails.

Second, methylsulfonylmethane gives the body the sulphur that it requires to recover from long-term inflammation, whether that be joint inflammation or inflammation relating to an autoimmune disease or asthma.

Third, methylsulfonylmethane removes toxins from the body by increasing cell permeability, by providing sulphur for the production of enzymes that convert toxins to benign products, and by producing the key detoxifier glutathione.

Methylsulfonylmethane is powerful largely because it delivers sulphur that the body requires in large amounts. This sulphur has been disappearing from our food as farming practices change, at the cost of our health.

Our products are unique in that we have made methylsulfonylmethane, which is an incredibly bitter substance, pleasant to take.
